

Birkman Certification Training

Birkman Certification Training (Level I) is the entry level course for The Birkman Method®. Certification training provides full understanding of the structure, language and measurements of the Birkman assessment. This knowledge imparts the ability to interpret any of the more than 40 reports available to certified consultants. Level I Certification is required training to access and use the complete set of in-depth Birkman reports.

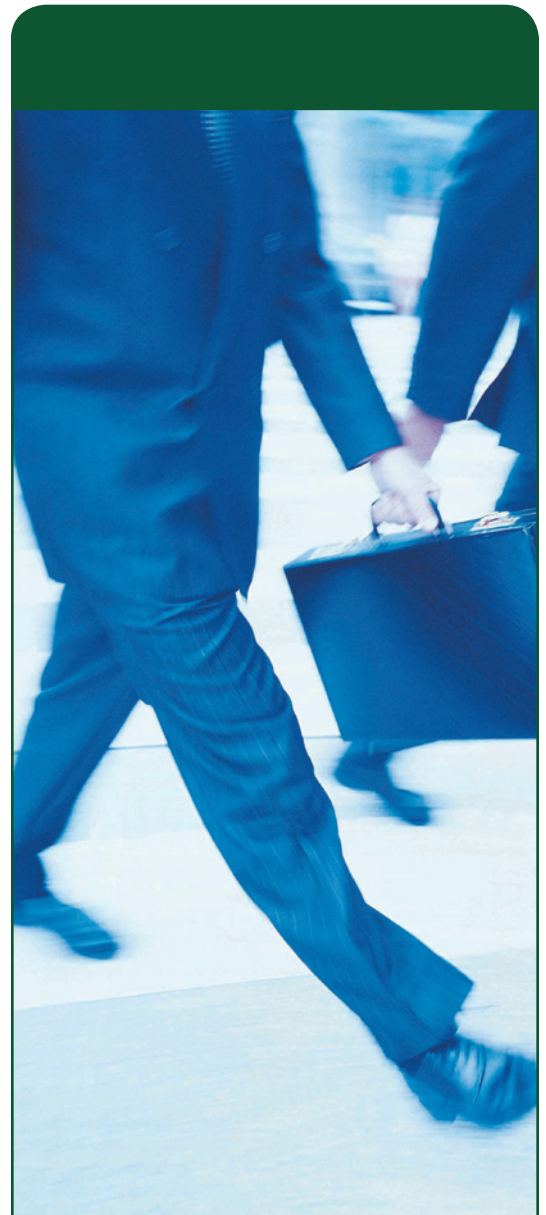

To ensure success with The Birkman Method®, trainees are expected to have at least one of the following qualifications:

- Two or more years of management consulting experience (internal or external to a company);
- Senior Level OD or HR experience within a company;
- Psychology training as a Ph.D., or a licensed or certified social worker (L.S.W., or C.S.W.); or
- Four-year degree from an accredited college or university.

Professional Development Training is the continuing education that reinforces the Certification process for all Birkman Certified consultants. These courses are designed to build the knowledge and skill of the Birkman Consultant in areas such as: Coaching and Leadership Development, Teambuilding, Career Management and Conflict Management. Some courses are available online while others are instructor-led. All Level I Consultants are required to maintain their Certification by completing 20 hours of professional development training every three years.
